Dear St. Michael's Latin Mass Community,

I cannot thank you enough for all of your kindness and generosity towards me during my stay here in Rapid City. Thank you for all your support in assisting me with my personal expenses, but most especially for your prayers for which I am forever grateful to you. I assure you of my prayers, especially at mass and in my daily rosary. May God reward you,
Charles Vreeland

Sins Against the First Commandment.

The First Commandment of God is transgressed:

1. By neglecting prayer.

The heathen had their household gods; they were to be seen in the halls of palaces as well as above the threshold of the lowliest dwellings. Yet Catholics, who worship the true God, too often deny Him the daily homage due to Him. The followers of Mohammed never omit, when the muezzin calls to prayer, to kneel down and perform their orisons, even in public places, while Christians, who hold the true faith, do not scruple to dispense with prayer almost entirely. Unhappy is the household where family prayer is an unknown thing!

2. By opposing religion, either by speaking against the faith, or by the publication or dissemination of books and periodicals hostile to the faith, or by joining associations of an anti-Christian character.

3. By worshipping idols or being engrossed in material interests.

4. By superstitions.

5. By telling fortunes or having one's fortune told.

6. By invoking spirits, either for the purpose of searching out what is hidden, or of doing what cannot be done in the ordinary course of nature.

ON THE GOSPEL

And who is my neighbor?

The lawyer, praised by the Savior for answering correctly, breaks out in pride; imagining that no one could be compared to him in virtue. And so we read: He, willing to justify himself, said to Jesus: And who is my neighbor? One sin after another encloses him as it were. For from deceit by which he had tried to trip up Christ, he falls into pride. Asking here, Who is my neighbor, he is revealed to us as empty of the love of neighbor, since he does not consider anyone as his neighbor; and consequently he is also of the love of God. For he that loves not his brother, whom he sees, how can he love God whom he sees not? (1 Jn 4:20)

~ St. Cyril, Patriarch of Jerusalem; 444 †.
