Honoring parents:

“The children of wisdom are the assembly of the just; they form a nation whose mark is obedience and love. Children, pay heed to a father's right; do so that you may be saved. For the Lord sets a father in honor over his children; a mother's authority he confirms over her sons. He who loves God will ask pardon for his sins and restrain himself from them, and will be heard in his daily prayer. He stores up riches who reveres his mother. He who honors his father is gladdened by children, and when he prays he is heard. He who reveres his father will live a long life, and he who obeys his father will bring comfort to his mother. He who fears the Lord honors his parents, and serves as rulers those who brought him into the world. In word and deed and in all patience honor your father, that his blessing may come upon you and remain until the last day. For a father's blessing gives a family firm roots, but a mother's curse uproots the growing plant. Glory not in your father's shame, for his shame is no glory to you! His father's honor is a man's glory; disgrace for his children, a father's shame.”

ON THE GOSPEL

He that humbles himself will be exalted.

Should you see your neighbor commit a sin, see that you do not think only of his sin, but that you also think of what he does, and has done well, and in doing this you will often times find that he is better than you are; when you consider all he has done, and not a part. God does not judge a man on a part of his life only. He says: I know their works and their thoughts; I come that I may gather them together (Is 66:18). And when the Lord rebuked Josaphat for the sin he had just committed, he recalled the good he had also done, saying to him: But good works are found in thee (2 Par. 19:3). Humility therefore will often save a man who is guilty of many and grievous sins
